

Dispute Resolution in England and Wales with a Focus on the MOJ Call for Evidence

CI Arb
evolving to resolve

Thames Valley Branch

Internet webinar

Wednesday
17 November 2021

Starts 6pm

In its recent Call for Evidence on Dispute Resolution in England and Wales the MOJ expressed its ambition to mainstream non-adversarial dispute resolution mechanisms, so that resolving disagreements, proactively and constructively, becomes the norm. As a representative of many dispute resolution practitioners and one of the foremost organisations involved in alternative dispute resolution, CI Arb will of course put in its evidence. This seminar will explore CI Arb's position, the approach in other jurisdictions and the impact on and future for dispute resolution practitioners. We are pleased to announce an eminent line-up of speakers as follows:

1. Catherine Dixon, Director General, CI Arb – a background to the CI Arb, its aims and position on the MOJ Call for Evidence.
2. Dr Isabel Phillips, Head of Mediation Development, CI Arb – an international perspective on non-adversarial dispute resolution and the lessons which can be learned.
3. Jane Gunn, FCI Arb, FRSA, FPSA, CEDR accredited, CMC registered and IMI Certified International Mediator; Deputy President of CI Arb (President 2022) – a practitioner's perspective on mediation and the consequences of compulsory alternative dispute resolution.

A Q&A session will follow for approximately 30 minutes after speeches.

The panel will be moderated by Ishfaq Ahmed, barrister at 36 Stone and St Philips Chambers.

Cost: There is no charge for this event. Guests and non-members are most welcome.

Registration: This must be made online via the CI Arb branch website here.
