The interview

The purpose of the interview is to assess the relevant knowledge, skills and attitude of an applicant. Applicants presenting themselves for interview should be prepared to answer probing questions from the interview panel which will test the reality of their knowledge and experience including:

- The depth and breadth of core knowledge of the mediation process, people skills to apply that knowledge in the conduct of mediation in a civil or commercial environment and the ability to demonstrate their knowledge and skills by drawing on their practice experience.
- The reality of any experience claimed.
- Attitude towards ethical and practical conduct of mediations.

The criteria

An applicant must be able to satisfy an interview panel that the applicant has the required knowledge, skills, attitudes and experience as described in the following criteria and is, in all respects, a suitable person for inclusion on the Panel of Experienced Civil and Commercial Mediators:

Assessment criteria

An applicant must demonstrate advanced knowledge and understanding of civil or commercial mediation and its practical application, evidencing a professional approach to parties and the public interest.

Knowledge assessment criteria
