Third Party Intervention Policy

June 2023

1. Introduction

The Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, (“Ciarb”), is a global professional membership organisation for those engaged in the practice, promotion, facilitation, and development of all forms of private dispute resolution.

Ciarb is a charity incorporated by Royal Charter. Ciarb’s object is to promote and facilitate worldwide the determination of disputes by all forms of private dispute resolution other than resolution by the court.

Ciarb is committed to upholding its object as stated in its Charter, advancing its strategic aims and providing a public benefit. This may, in part, be achieved through a third party intervention that advances Ciarb as a global thought leader of private dispute resolution and assists the courts.

This policy establishes a clear and transparent process for seeking approval to proceed with a third party intervention on behalf of Ciarb, before it is initiated. Adherence to this policy is mandatory for all staff, members and Branches of Ciarb.

As soon as practical any member and/or Branch or staff member wishing to pursue a third party intervention shall inform the Chief Executive Officer and General Counsel about a prospective third party intervention stating why a third party intervention should be considered in line with the principles and processes set out in this policy.

All discussions, documents, information, statements, evidence, proposals and subsequent deliberations related to the third party intervention shall be treated with utmost confidentiality, except as required by applicable laws and regulations or as otherwise authorised. All those involved shall take steps to protect legal professional privilege where this is appropriate and necessary.

2. Charity Commission Guidance

Where charities are considering legal action, the Charity Commission expects trustees to be able to show that they have applied the principles of Charities and litigation: a guide for trustees \(CC38\). This includes, managing risks responsibly, by identifying and assessing the risks faced, and deciding how to deal with them.

The Charity Commission's role, where concerns are raised, is to ensure that the trustees make their decisions in the best interests of the charity. Charities and litigation: a guide for trustees \(CC38\) shall be considered when submitting a proposal to intervene under this policy. In particular, the following points shall be addressed:

- Whether there is a significant risk to Ciarb's income and/or reputation if Ciarb intervenes, or fails to intervene, (including considering the expectations of Ciarb members or the private dispute resolution sector).
- Whether there are significant risks to Ciarb in the proceeding (including financial and costs risks and any risk that the intervention could result in a worse outcome for Ciarb, Ciarb members or the private dispute resolution sector).

3. When might Ciarb get involved in a litigation

A case may be appropriate for an "amicus curiae" or "third party intervention" (referred to in this policy as an "Intervention" or "intervening"), if it:

- (i) raises one or more issue of public importance relevant to private dispute resolution; and
- (ii) there is a risk that the public interest may not be sufficiently well addressed by the submissions of the parties alone.

With the court's permission, interveners can assist the court in its determination of the case by providing:

- a legal analysis of one or more of the issues;
- input on international legal aspects; and/or
- additional evidence or information.

The intervention may take the form of written and/or oral submissions.

Ciarb might get involved in litigation which:

- could increase the use of private dispute resolution and promote its concept as a genuine alternative to litigation in the courts;
- impacts, or could impact, on Ciarb's members' practice as dispute resolvers;

- could change, clarify, add or develop an area of law which is important to Ciarb’s work and/or its members’ practice including, but not limited to, enabling the greater use of private dispute resolution;
- Ciarb has experience and/or evidence which might help the court determine an issue before it; and/or
- Ciarb can provide helpful context from its work or the work of its members.

4. Roles and responsibilities

The Board of Trustees is responsible for:

- determining the standards, principles and factors to assess a decision to intervene;
- approving and publishing this Third Party Intervention Policy; and
- decisions to intervene where there is an unmitigated cost risk to (i) Ciarb, (ii) any of Ciarb’s Branches (iii) all and any of Ciarb’s or Ciarb Branch employees, Ciarb volunteers (including Ciarb Branch committee members) and/or agents and (iv) all and any of its trustees.

The Audit and Risk Committee is responsible for:

- periodically reviewing the effectiveness of this Policy, and its implementation to ensure continuous improvement; and
- where appropriate, advising on risk in the event that a decision on whether to intervene is reserved to the Board of Trustees.

The Chief Executive Officer has delegated authority from the Board of Trustees to:

- approve Ciarb intervening in litigation where the costs risk has been mitigated in accordance with 6 (iii) below; and
- instruct external lawyers to conduct the case and act on behalf of Ciarb pro bono (including when an intervention is reserved to the Board of Trustees and the Board of Trustees approve the intervention).

Intervention Advisory Panel (IAP): comprising litigation and private dispute resolution experts with relevant experience, may be convened by the Chief Executive Officer, if necessary, to provide advice on whether Ciarb should intervene and the nature of the intervention. The IAP may be made up of a standing group of experts and/or ad hoc members as required considering the proposed intervention.

Branches, members and staff: may submit proposals that Ciarb act as an intervenor.

Director of Policy: any proposal to intervene shall be reviewed by Ciarb's Director of Policy, who shall consider:

- whether the proposed intervention is in line with Ciarb's policy objectives;
- any perceived risk in the event that Ciarb fails to intervene;
- which policy objectives may be served by intervening; and
- what evidence may be available within Ciarb (including Ciarb Branches), to support the intervention.

The Director of Policy shall, if appropriate, make a recommendation in writing to the Chief Executive Officer, as to whether to intervene.

General Counsel: shall advise on legal risk and, if appropriate, legal procedure, and in the event, Ciarb decides to apply to intervene, Ciarb's General Counsel may conduct the case, or instruct external lawyers to conduct the case and act on behalf of Ciarb pro bono. If necessary, the General Counsel may obtain assistance from individuals who have volunteered to advise Ciarb on its Intervention Advisory Panel on a pro bono basis.

Director of Member Engagement and Communication: shall support Ciarb by preparing a communication plan to support media coverage and communication about the intervention.

5. Standards that underpin Ciarb's involvement

The following standards shall underpin Ciarb's involvement in any intervention.

Ciarb may intervene only:

- (i) on issues that align with (a) Ciarb's object as set out in its Charter; (b) Ciarb's strategy; (c) issues that may be of importance to Ciarb members or, a significant section of Ciarb's membership;
- (ii) where a successful outcome will preserve, strengthen, clarify or change the law enabling or supporting the use of private dispute resolution;
- (iii) will advance Ciarb as a thought leader in the private dispute resolution sector and support its reputation with Ciarb members and/or the private dispute resolution sector; and/or

(iv) when the intervention could assist the court in its determination and goes beyond merely restating the arguments advanced by the parties.

6. Other factors to guide Ciarb's involvement

In addition to the above standards set out in section 4 of this Policy, the following are criteria which shall be used to evaluate whether Ciarb should intervene. Any other relevant considerations shall be included in any proposal to intervene with a clear rationale as to why such should be considered.

(i) Impact

Legal impact: The potential impact on the legal outcome of the case whether the intervention may affect the interpretation of the law or the application of legal principles, which could have consequences for private dispute resolution.

Public impact: The public impact of the intervention and whether there may be implications for public policy or public opinion which are relevant to private dispute resolution.

Reputational impact: The reputational impact of the intervention, or failing to intervene, on Ciarb and the potential consequences that may arise from Ciarb's involvement in the case or failure to be involved.

Strategic impact: The strategic impact of the intervention and whether the intervention aligns with Ciarb's object and strategic objectives.

Timing impact: The timing impact of the intervention and whether the intervention is timely and whether it will have the desired impact on the case.

Precedent impact: Whether the doctrine of precedent applies and the decision will be binding on lower courts or could be used as persuasive (or binding) precedent in one or more jurisdiction. Examples of relevant matters are:

(i) the extent to which the ruling will bind local courts under the doctrine of precedent;

(ii) the extent to which regard will be had to the ruling by non-local courts.

Financial impact to Ciarb and/or its members: the financial implications on Ciarb members and the private dispute resolution sector.

(ii) Resource

- Whether the potential impact of a case would justify the amount of resource (in terms of direct financial cost and staff time), needed from Ciarb.
- Whether pro bono counsel, lawyers and/or solicitors have been identified to support the intervention, (any advice and assistance from external counsel, lawyers and/or solicitors or other experts must be provided on a pro bono basis).
- Whether there are other ways of achieving the desired outcome.
- Whether Ciarb is best placed to take the action, or whether we should work with others.

7. Further reading

- Charities and litigation: a guide for trustees \(CC38\)

In the event that Ciarb is unable to obtain the above assurance, checks shall be made as to whether Ciarb's insurance would fully cover any cost order against Ciarb.

Board of Trustees

If the legal cost of intervening is not fully mitigated, and there remains a financial risk to Ciarb, its employees, agents, members and trustees or a Ciarb Branch and its employees or agents, the decision to intervene is reserved to the Board of Trustees.
